START HERE!

REC PATH

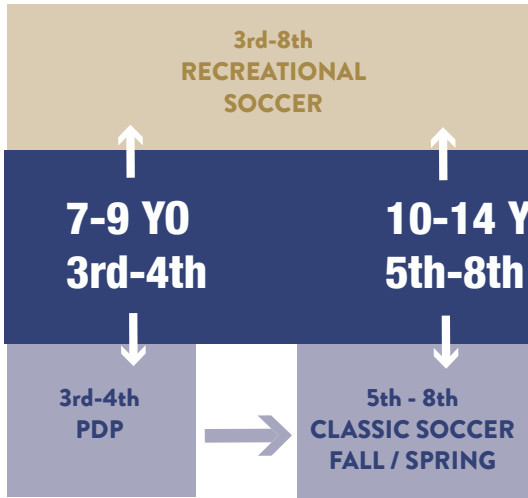

RECREATIONAL OR CLASSIC SOCCER?

After K-2 Rec Soccer, players may choose to stay in Rec soccer or jump to the more competitive PDP Program.

CLASSIC PATH

RECREATIONAL SOCCER -

If you love soccer but are looking for an experience that's a little more laid back than classic, then this is the program for you.

PDP or PLAYER DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM -

The PDP Program is comprised of kids that want to prepare for classic soccer or just want a more competitive experience than Rec. soccer offers.

CLASSIC SOCCER -

Classic soccer is more competitive than Rec. soccer. It is also more of a time and money commitment. Classic soccer has both a fall AND spring season.

For a VERY HIGH LEVEL of competition, players may try out for the Oregon Premier Developmental Academy (BOYS) or the ECNL (GIRLS)

HS CO-ED REC. SOCCER -

For players that do NOT make their high school team or choose not to play for their high school there is Co-Ed Rec Soccer.

HIGH SCHOOL SOCCER -

Players attending high school may try out and play for their school team.

RECREATIONAL OR CLASSIC SOCCER? -

All players play K-2 Rec soccer. Going into second or third grade players may decide to jump to the PDP program which is more competitive than Rec soccer. At any time in a player's soccer career they may decide to try out for Classic soccer OR go back to Rec soccer from Classic. Classic try outs are always in early May and that is when you can make a switch. The longer a player waits to try Classic soccer the harder it may be to make a team.

OREGON PREMIER FC - High School players join OPFC for club soccer after high school soccer. Willamette United and Lake Oswego merge to form Oregon Premier Football Club
